KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

ace it: Nicole Scherzing-er is naturally gorgeous – but that doesn't mean the 38-year-old singer may not have gotten a little help staying that way! In addition to a possible nose job, lip fillers and Botox, she also might have had some nipping and tucking around the eyes and cheeks, according to our experts. "It looks like she's had a very well-done upper eyelid lift," Philadelphiabased plastic surgeon Dr. Lyle Back (who, like the other docs mentioned in this story, has not treated Nicole) tells Life & Style. "We can actually see them now!" Even more obvious to some docs? Nicole's newly angular face. "Her cheekbones are wider, which could be from fillers," says NYC-based plastic surgeon Dr. Norman Rowe. "But I also think she had a buccal fat excision." (That's the surgical removal of fat pads from the cheeks.) All in all, Nicole – who has denied having any cosmetic surgery and credits "drinking a lot of water and getting a lot of sleep" for her flawless appearance – gets kudos for her look. Says Beverly Hills-based plastic surgeon Dr. Raffi Hovsepian: "She hasn't distorted her natural beauty." 💵
